INQUIRIES COME TO COMMERCIAL CLUB

Factory Propositions Will be Considered by Directors at a Meeting in Near Future.

"SOMETHING" FOR MEMBERS

Big Get-Together Meeting is Being Planned—Collection of Dues for Past Year.

Clark B. Davis, secretary of the Seymour Commercial Club, is in receipt of several communications from manufacturing concerns seeking to either establish or relocate their factories and inquiring about the facilities here. The inquiries will be considered by the directors of the Club who expect to meet during the next few days. Some of the propositions are on their face nothing but bids for bonuses and will receive little attention from the directors. Several of the inquiries, however, appear to be business propositions of reliable concerns and these will be investigated.

One communication received by the secretary came from a concern in the West that manufactures plate glass. The letter stated that for several reasons it was desired to relocate the plant in the central part of the United States and the local Commercial Club was asked to state what this city had to offer in the way of railroad facilities and marketing advantages.

Another letter came from a company that manufactures court house furniture and fixtures and stated that it was desired to locate a factory in the southern section of Indiana. This communication will likely be investigated.

A company that proposes to establish an iron foundry has also written the local Club to ascertain if a suitable room could be secured here. The proposition was that the citizens take about $3,000 in stock in the company if it comes here. Other inquiries have been received by the directors and secretary and will be taken up by the directors.

The directors are considering the calling of a meeting of the members of the club in the near future. The meeting will be in the nature of a smoker and social affair and a supper may be arranged. Mr. Davis said today that there was considerable work that could be done by the Commercial Club, but before any of the various propositions were taken up it would be necessary to get the members together and arouse the enthusiasm that is necessary to boost any one of them to success.

None of the dues has been collected during the past year and before any social meetings or smokers are arranged it will be necessary to get some money in the treasury. With this in view Mr. Davis will call upon the members during the next two or three weeks for the yearly dues and says that there may be something interesting in store in the near future. It is important, therefore, that the call for the dues be complied with promptly so that none of the movements in view will be handicapped for want of funds.

EASTERN STAR MEMBERS VISIT BROWNSTOWN CHAPTER

Witness Degree Work Given on Two Candidates and Enjoyed Elegant Luncheon.

More than forty members of the Seymour Chapter of Eastern Star went to Brownstown Monday night and were the guests of the Chapter there. The occasion of the trip was the visit of the Grand Matron to the Brownstown Chapter. Last year when the Grand Matron visited the local Chapter Brownstown members were guests here and they took this opportunity to return the compliment.

The degree work was conferred on two candidates after which an address was made by the Grand Matron who spoke in very complimentary terms of the work and the manner in which it was exemplified. Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed during which a luncheon was served. The Seymour members went to Brownstown in automobiles and hacks late in the afternoon and returned about midnight greatly pleased with the visit and the hospitality shown them.

Among those who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dannettell, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hamer, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Amick, Mr. and Mrs. Estel Hancock, Mr. and Mrs. Byford Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. John Rockstroh, William Meseke, Mrs. Albert Meseke, Miss Bertha Meseke, Miss Ada Postlethwaite, Miss Nelle Everhart, Mrs. G. O. Barnes, Mrs. Cora Hunsucker, Mrs. Ida Miller, Mrs. J. L. Williams, Mrs. J. B. Shepard, Miss Frieda Meyer, Mrs. George Meyer, Mrs. Henry Brethauer, Mrs. Fannie Reynolds, Mrs. Carroll Bush, Mrs. George Henry, Mrs. O. S. Guernsey, Mrs. Maude Wesner, Mrs. Thomas Lester, Mrs. Guy Copeland.

GRAND JURY ARE GUESTS AT COUNTY POOR FARM

Members Invited by Superintendent J. B. Cross to Take Dinner at Institution.

The annual inspection of the Jackson county poor farm and jail was made today by the grand jury. The members were invited to take dinner at the poor farm by Superintendent and Mrs. J. B. Cross and an elegant chicken dinner was served. Judge Swails was also invited to join the party but was unable to attend on account of court business. After the dinner the members were shown about the farm. They were also to inspect the county jail. The grand jury will file a report relative to these two institutions.

A number of witnesses were called before the body again today. It was thought that the investigations might be concluded late this afternoon, although nothing definite has been given out by the foreman or members. It is not known how many indictments will be returned, although this information will be made public after adjournment.

B. Y. P. U. Hallowe'en Social.
The Baptist Young People's Union will hold a Hallowe'en social at the church. All members of the society and members of the church and Sunday School over 14 years of age are invited to attend and enjoy the evening. o29d

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hargitt and son, of Medora, have returned home after a visit of several days with his son, R. W. Hargitt, and wife, in this city. They made the trip in their automobile.

ANOTHER SHORT COURT SESSION

Case of W. L. Schneider Against Joseph Balsley Set for Trial but Comes to Sudden End.

DEFENDANT DID NOT APPEAR

Balsley was Given Verdict in Justice's Court But Did Not Fight Case on Appeal.

Another short session of the Jackson circuit court was held today when the case of Walter L. Schneider against Joseph Balsley, on account, which was set for trial, was suddenly ended when the defendant did not appear. The case was originally tried in a justice's court and the plaintiff, Schneider, lost. He then appealed to the circuit court and was awarded judgment because the defendant failed to make a defense.

It was expected that practically the entire day would be taken up with the trial of this case and no other suit was set for trial. Consequently, court adjourned about noon after several pleadings were filed.

Action taken by the court on other cases follow:

Angeline Serrill vs. Joseph C. Vermilya et al. on notes reset for trial for Nov. 11, 1915.

Sherman Day et al. vs. Louis Pardieck; account dismissed cost paid.

Frederick H. Benter vs. Sarah D. Findley et al.; specific performance, set for trial for 16th day of November 1915.

Frank Branaman et al. vs. James S. Clements et al.; appeal from Board of Commissioners set for trial for Nov. 11, 1915.

Moody I. Massena et al. vs. Morton Scott; injunction and damages, dismissed at cost of plaintiff.

Shores-Muller Co. vs. Ira I. Isaacs et al.; Account and Mortgage, set for trial for Nov. 12.

State vs. Joe Burton; Illegal sale of liquor, set for trial for Nov. 10.

State vs. John Elm; selling liquor to minor, reset for trial for November 4.

State vs. Allen T. Davis, for running Blind Tiger, set for trial for Nov. 5.

State vs. Thurman Bridgewater et al. for assault and battery, set for trial for Nov. 3.

Samantha J. Brown vs. Frank Brown; divorce dismissed at cost of plaintiff.

Rose Mayfield vs. Bert Mayfield; divorce dismissed at cost of plaintiff.

Albert Robbins vs. Mary Robbins; divorce dismissed at cost of plaintiff on account of death of defendant.

John M. Rich vs. Waneita Rich; divorce granted plaintiff.

B. Maggie Horn vs. Andrew Horn; divorce dismissed at cost of plaintiff.

Morton C. Griffin vs. Lola Belle Griffin; divorce dismissed at cost of plaintiff.

Henry Toppe vs. Sarilda Toppe; divorce granted plaintiff.

Amy M. Beatty vs. August Beatty; divorce granted plaintiff.

Jesse Bennett vs. Henry W. Bennett; divorce granted plaintiff and maiden name of Jessie Osborn restored.

Charles E. Burge vs. Rosa F. Burge; divorce granted.

CITY TEACHERS TO ATTEND MEETING

Convention of Indiana Association Will be Held at Indianapolis This Week.

SCHOOLS TO CLOSE WEDNESDAY

Difficulty Experienced in Securing Hotel Accommodations During the Session.

All the public schools in Jackson county will close Wednesday afternoon until Monday morning in order that the teachers may attend the annual session of the Indiana State Teachers' Association which will be held in Indianapolis Thursday and Friday. Practically all the teachers in the county will attend. They are allowed their regular compensation for attending the meeting but are required to file with the trustees and the superintendents in the city and towns a statement showing the number of sessions at which they were present. The city schools always close for the convention. The county board of education at its last meeting voted to dismiss the township schools after Wednesday.

Local teachers say that they are having some difficulty in securing hotel accommodations at Indianapolis. Some of them wrote to the hotels two and three weeks ago asking that rooms be reserved for them during the convention, but quite a few have received replies that all the rooms are engaged. However, the people of Indianapolis have opened their homes to the visitors and the entertainment committee of the association will see that all teachers are accommodated with pleasant and comfortable quarters. Most of the teachers here desire to stay at the hotels as they attend the night sessions of the convention and do not desire to travel several miles to reach their sleeping quarters.

Superintendent T. A. Mott, of the city schools, has a place on the program as one of the educators to discuss one of the topics designated. Miss Kate Andrews, principal of the local high school, is also a member of one of the committees.

Besides the regular meetings which are to be held in Tomlinson Hall, there will be a number of sectional meetings at which special courses will be given consideration. The very foremost educators in the country are engaged to speak at the convention. President Wilson had been extended an invitation to speak, but several days ago found it impossible to attend.

Perhaps the most elaborate program that the teachers of Indiana even heard has been prepared for this meeting. The speakers are notable and come from many parts of the country. Some of the foremost of the speakers from outside of the state include: Dr. Herbert L. Willett of the University of Chicago; Dr. E. L. Thorndyke, of Columbia University in New York City; Dr. C. H. Judd, of the University of Chicago; Dr. A. H. Dean, of the agricultural college of New York; Dr. Lincoln Wirt, of Wellesley, Massachusetts; Dr. R. W. Stimson, of the Massachusetts board of education, and Dr. G.

D. Strayer, of Columbia University. P. P. Claxton, national commissioner of education, and Dr. C. A. Prosser, of Dunwoody Institute of Minneapolis, will speak at the meetings.

ARRESTS MADE AS RESULT OF FIRE IN BOX FACTORY

Criminal Negligence to be Charged Against Persons Responsible for Death of Sixteen.

By United Press
Pittsburg, October 26—H. H. Woods, executor of the James Brown estate, which owned the building in which the fire occurred yesterday, snuffing out the lives of sixteen persons, was arrested by Deputy Coroner Eving this afternoon.

Arrests on warrants charging criminal negligence are to be the first steps of importance in bringing to justice those responsible for the frightful box factory fire here yesterday according to announcement of Coroner Jamison.

TWO ARE ACQUITTED OF ARSON CONSPIRACY

Result of Case Tried in Daviess County is Not a Surprise—Trial Cost $2,200.

By United Press
Washington, Ind., October 26—The two defendants in the arson conspiracy trial here were acquitted here today by a jury. They were: Albert M. Perkins, farmer and stock raiser of Daviess county, and L. S. Walker, of Evansville, of the Fisher & Walker livery firm. The verdict was not a surprise. The men were charged with conspiring to defraud an insurance company. The expense of the trial was $2,200.

U. S. AUTHORITIES TAKE OVER CASE

Investigation of Alleged Conspiracy to Blow up Ships Carrying War Munitions.

THREE ARE UNDER ARREST

Alleged Prussian Army Lieutenant and Brother-in-law Said to Have Confessed.

By United Press.
New York, October 26—The federal government today took complete charge of the investigation of the alleged conspiracy to blow up trans-Atlantic vessels carrying war munitions to the allies. Robert Fay, alleged Prussian army lieutenant, who confessed important details of the plot, and Walter Scholtz, his brother-in-law, were turned over to federal authorities by Magistrate Rander at Weekawken, New Jersey. They will be arraigned before a United States commissioner in New Jersey this afternoon.

"The government's interests will be best served if the court turn these men over to us immediately," William J. Flynn of the federal secret service, told the New Jersey magistrate. "This is a matter of great importance."

Paul Daeche, the third man under arrest, was not turned over to the federal authorities. Daeche's attorney refused to waive his rights and he will be given a hearing before a federal district court in New Jersey.

SECRETARY'S REPORT OF INTEREST TO ODD FELLOWS

Semi-Annual Statement of W. H. Leedy Shows Membership of 84,932 in Indiana.

Odd Fellows in Indiana will obtain many interesting bits of statistical information concerning their order, in addition to the current statistical reports, when the semi-annual statement from W. H. Leedy, grand secretary in Indiana, is completed for the sessions of the Grand Encampment and the Grand Lodge. The semi-annual Grand Encampment will be held at the Odd Fellows Building Nov. 16, and the Grand Lodge will meet Nov. 17 and 18. In the report, which will cover the period from Jan. 1 to June 30, 1915, Mr. Leedy has included many comparative statistics, and one of the most interesting features will be a review of the last twenty-five years of the development of the order. Mr. Leedy has the report almost ready for the printer.

At the session of the Grand Lodge in 1890 Mr. Leedy was installed as grand master, and since then has been a prominent figure in the state organization, and his personal review of the last quarter of a century of Odd Fellowship in Indiana will be of great interest to all members of the lodge.

The report will show that on June 30 there were 757 active lodges in Indiana, with a total membership of 84,932, a net gain of 386 in six months. In 1890 the membership was only 33,000. In the first six months of the year 2,164 were initiated, 218 reinstated and 411 were transferred to Indiana lodges on cards from other states. There were 493 deaths and 478 transfers to lodges in other states, while 1,436 memberships were abated from other causes. In Indiana 28,186 members had the work of the Grand Lodge. Marion County led the state with 5,306 members, and Ohio County had the smallest membership, fifty-seven.

The six months relief benefits were paid to 5,664 members, to 168 widows and families, and the sick benefits were for a total of 38,111 weeks. The payments made aggregated $195,960.59, bringing the total for the year ending June 30 to $362,563.02. The total resources of the order in Indiana were $4,252,527.40, of which $3,021,860.47 was represented by buildings and $702,879.35 by cemeteries and other realty.

Three veteran jewels were awarded in the six months to E. C. Clinton, of Alexandria, who was initiated July 3, 1886; to Fountain Harness of Jefersonville, who was initiated July 12, 1859, and to Jacob Schaninger of Jeffersonville, who was initiated Sept. 6, 1865. Veteran Rebekah jewels were conferred on Alice De-long and Anna Klinginsmith of New Augusta, and Delia Shorte of Monticello, all of whom have been Rebekahs for fifteen years.

In addition to the statistical reports the grand secretary's report will include recommendations to the Grand Lodge, which are not made public until after they have been given.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

HEALTH DAY WAS BIG SUCCESS IN CLEVELAND

Expected that Ohio State Legislature will Set Aside One Day for Similar Celebration.

By United Press
Cleveland, O., Oct. 26.—"Health day" in Cleveland, celebrated here for the first time by any municipality, was so successful that it promises to become a State day by act of the legislature.

The city council disease prevention day committee will co-operate with the State Board of Health in getting an Ohio Health Day.

Bringing the importance of disease prevention to the attention of the people municipally, it has been shown, will accomplish more in one day every year, than the preachments of thousands of individuals.

Adoption of an annual health day by other cities and states and possibly by the nation, is expected to be the outgrowth of Cleveland's innovation.

Cleveland's first Health day is being followed up with a publicity campaign. Thousand of health rules have been distributed in pamphlet form. These rules were written by Dr. Ford of the Health Department. Moving picture theaters, newspapers and other publicity agencies are co-operating in the work.

Any individual who wants to know what to do to regain or conserve health has only to let the proper authorities know the desire and individual advice, free, is given that person at once.

Next year's Health day will be celebrated not only through publicity and speeches, but with brass bands and a big parade.

The Howe and Stanfield nursery near Scipio presented the Republican with some fine samples of Grimes Golden apples. This nursery is preparing to issue a catalogue in the near future listing the various trees they have in stock.

A PROMISE TO PAY

When a manufacturer advertises his goods in this newspaper he is giving a promissory note to dealers.

He is promising to pay those who co-operate with his newspaper advertising.

He is promising more customers and increased sales to the storekeepers.

It is only business sense on the part of the retailers to show the goods and push them at the time they are being advertised in the newspapers.

When Baby Has the Croup.

When a mother is awakened from sound sleep to find her child who has gone to bed apparently in the best of health struggling for breath, she is naturally alarmed. Yet if she can keep her presence of mind and give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy every ten minutes until vomiting is produced, quick relief will follow and the child will drop to sleep to awaken in the morning as well as ever. This remedy has been in use for many years with uniform success. Obtainable everywhere.

INDUSTRIAL PARADE TO BE FEATURE OF FALL FESTIVAL

Automobiles and Horses Take Prominent Part in Celebration at Rushville.

By United Press. Rushville, Ind., October 26—Rushville was this week trying an experiment to see if horses and automobiles would mix. In connection with the eighth annual Fall festival and horse show beginning today, an automobile show was arranged. Over one hundred manufacturers were invited to make displays.

The show opened today with a parade of horses, which was led by a delegation of 150 members of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce. The Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce will be represented here by a delegation Thursday. An industrial parade of large proportions will be held tomorrow. There will be two airship flights daily during the week and a special program of fireworks each night.

THE MORTON FAMILY.

A friend of Roger Williams and a neighbor of his in the Providence settlement was John Throckmorton. A century and a half later a descendant of the latter had a disagreement with his brothers over a family estate, and wishing to out himself off in part from their name he dropped the first part of it and became known as James T. Morton. He became the father of the war governor. When a young man James T. Morton moved from New Jersey to Ohio, and then to Salisbury, the county seat of Wayne, Indiana, where he kept favor.

BROWNSTOWN GIRL, 15, A STUDENT AT INDIANA

Miss Rosa Bell Zaring is Often Taken for High School Girl at University Library.

Miss Rosa Nell Zaring, of Brownstown, is a student at Indiana University at the age of fifteen years. A dispatch from the University town says:

Only 15 years old and enrolled as a student at Indiana University as a member of the freshman class is the record of Miss Rosa Nell Zaring of Brownstown, Ind. A short time ago two 15-year-old youths were found to have enrolled and the men became all "puffed up," thinking that man at last had shown his superiority over the female sex. The girls were on the lookout, however, and reported their "find" at Alpha Hall. Miss Zaring's father is a physician of Brownstown. When 3 years old Miss Zaring could read the third reader and when she entered school she "skipped" along at a merry clip. At 11 she enrolled in the Brownstown High School and four years later was ready to enter Indiana University, making a new record among the girls. Miss Zaring was valedictorian of her class in high school and took part in all the class plays. She is especially good in giving readings, having received instruction from her mother since early childhood. She is just like any little girl of 15 and since she wears her hair in long braids she is often mistaken for a high school girl when seen in the library.

A COMMUNITY FACTOR.

Speaking of the position of the newspaper as a community factor, the Marion Chronicle says:

The newspaper occupies a place in the community not unlike the church and the school. While it is an enterprise conducted for private gain, it subserves a distinct utility purpose. Its relations to the public are both peculiar and important. It is not simply a purveyor of news; it is also a custodian of the peace of the community and a promoter of community welfare. There is no other institution that is so essential to the general welfare as the newspaper when it is properly conducted.

The newspaper business today has ceased to be a personal enterprise. Newspaper publishers recognize the fact that they are, in a sense, public utilities and that the public have an interest in their publications. While this interest is not represented by financial investment, it is just the same a substantial interest. It can be truthfully said that no paper lives unto itself or dies unto itself. Every newspaper is a savor of life or death in the community in which it circulates. The live newspaper is a wonderful tonic commercially, intellectually, morally. Its value in the community cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. If it is published with the proper recognition of the conditions under which it circulates and with due regard for the functions which it should fulfill, it is a tremendous asset. It is calculated when properly edited to serve a very high purpose in binding the community together in singleness of purpose. Every home it touches and every individual who reads it in some measure or other reflects the tone and character of the paper.

The chief value of the paper lies in its editorial policy. It has come to pass also, that in excluding objectionable advertising, such as liquor ads, clairvoyants and fakes in general, as an advertising medium, the reputable newspaper has come to be a standard of good merchandising. In the bringing to the attention of their readers the latest mercantile news in the form of advertising and acquainting them with the numerous bargains which are being offered to the public, the newspapers are not only contributing to the general distribution of goods, but educating the people to the purchase of the goods most suited to their purpose and at prices conducive to economy. The live merchant no more thinks of getting along without the newspaper than he does without electric lights, elevators and clerks. The newspaper is no longer an institution which merchants patronize as a favor to the publishers, but as a medium which they use as a necessity to their business.

President of American Federation of Labor Talks About Labor With The President.

INFORMATION NOT DIVULGED

Labor Leader Believed to Have Told

Wilson of Plots to Tie up American Munition Plants.

By United Press.

Washington, October 26—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today laid before President Wilson the details of an alleged new and gigantic plot on the part of German agents in this country to tie up munition factories making war supplies for the allies.

Confronted with the direct question as to whether he had discussed these matters with the president Gompers said:

"I cannot tell you anything further than I have given you, namely that I talked with the president about labor legislation and other matters."

From other sources, however, it was learned that Gompers was able to give the president information not only relative to the recently exposed plot in New York involving a scheme of alleged German agents to blow up ships ferrying war munitions to England, France and Russia but likewise of widespread activity to bring about walkouts in certain large munition plants.

The Eye of the Army

Oh, I clamber up high to the vault of the sky,
Far above all the muck of the trenches;
Far above the quick fire of the maxim gunfire,
Far above all the reek and the stench,
There's a puff from below in the lines of the foe,
Where a gunner is seeking to harm me.
But I drop and I rise from his bombs in the skies
And I still am the eye of the army!

For it's my job to learn every sally and turn
Of the enemy right when they make it
I'm a sentry whose care is a post high in air,
And it isn't for me to forsake it.
So I duck and I dip and I dodge and I skip
From the aeroplane shells that would mar me,
While the gunner with zest does his Sunday school best
To put out the eye of the army.

Now, there isn't much chance for the ancient romance
In these days of mechanical slaughter.
When we shed human blood in a horrible flood
On the face of the land and the water.
But I am not bound by the soldiers' dull round.
For in war's mighty drama they starve
And it's still a great game full of glory and fame—
To the venturesome eye of the army!

MEXICO'S TURBULENT LIFE
NOW ENTERING NEW PHASE

Trouble Started In February, 1913.
When Madero Was Assassinated.

Here is an outline of Mexico's turbulent history, which has entered a new phase:

President Francisco I. Madero assassinated Feb. 23, 1913, while "attempting to escape" from General Huerta's troops.

General Victoriano Huerta takes title of "provisional president" and calls a session of congress for April, 1913. Governor Don Venustiano Carranza of Coahuila heads revolution against Huerta on March 26, 1913.

President Wilson raises embargo on arms shipments to rebels Feb. 3, 1914, forecasting end of Huerta regime. American bluejackets arrested at Tampico by Huerta's soldiers on April 9, 1914, and the following day Rear Admiral Henry T. Mayo demands salute of the American flag.

American troops land in Vera Cruz April 21, 1914, to force Huerta to salute the flag. Representatives of so called A. B. C. powers called into conference to mediate between Huerta and the United States April 25, 1914.

Revolutionist General Carranza refuses to permit armistice for conference to settle all Mexican difficulties. Niagara Falls conference agreed upon. Farical election of Huerta as president of Mexico takes place, and on July 15, 1914, he hands in resignation.

General Carranza enters Mexico City at the head of troops Aug. 20, 1914. General Villa begins revolution against Carranza Sept. 23, 1914.

Another pan-American conference called, but attempts to arrange peace parleys between warring Mexican factions fail.

United States decides to recognize Carranza on Oct. 19, 1915.

AMERICA FIRST.

Department of Interior Issues Poster Urging Education For Aliens.

The department of the interior, through its bureau of education, has issued a lithographed poster, 30 by 20 inches in size, which is being sent to the various postoffices, public schools and industrial establishments of the country, urging immigrants to educate themselves for American citizenship. In the foreground of the poster Uncle Sam is represented as grasping the hand of an immigrant workman, while in the background are seen a residence, a public school and a naturalization judge handing "citizen's papers" to an immigrant.

Under the boldfaced title, "America First," are urgent invitations to attend night school, learn English and become citizens. These invitations, with brief sentences setting forth the advantages of such action, are given in English and in six immigrant languages—viz, Italian, Polish, Yiddish, Lithuanian, Bohemian and Hungarian.

Investigation has shown that there are in this country 3,000,000 foreign born whites, ten years and over, who are unable to read or even speak English. More than one-half of these immigrants are unable to read or write in any language. As the posters will be hung in conspicuous places, it is to be hoped that by means of this pictorial and written invitation immigrants will have their attention called to the night schools of their communities and that where there is any considerable number of immigrants and no night schools the poster may inspire the authorities in these communities to establish such schools. This is a part of a more comprehensive plan for preparing immigrants for American life and citizenship.

MOVIE TIGER ON RAMPAGE.

Breaks From Cage on Steamer, Swims Ashore and Is Shot.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

Members of the Pythian Sisters and their families enjoyed a unique Halloween party last night at the lodge rooms. Quite a large number were present and the majority were masked. The musical program was given in the lodge room and was thoroughly enjoyed. The numbers were rendered by the "Hay Seed Band" composed of George Bartlett, Norman Barkman, Herman Bartlett and Herbert Parker. Following the grand march which was led by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Geile, the masks were removed. The costumes were unusually good. Prizes were offered for the most novel costumes and were won by Charles Dixon and Mrs. Jasper Hilt. Refreshments of pumpkin pie, ginger bread and coffee were served in the Armory.

The success of the affair was due largely to the several committees that made the arrangements. The entertainment committee was composed of Mrs. Lura Baird, chairman; Mrs. Charles Dixon, Mrs. Henry Loertz and Mrs. Henry Kasperlain. Other committees were also appointed who worked with the entertainment committee. The hall was decorated with Jack 'o lanterns and fall leaves.

DRAMATIC CLUB.

Good progress was manifested in the rehearsals of both Mary Jane's Pa and Every Woman, at the regular weekly meeting of the Dramatic Club last evening. Owing to the faculty concert next Monday evening, there will be no rehearsal next week, but after that work will be concentrated on Mary Jane's Pa, as the date for its production has been set for early in December. In the meantime the members or the Every Woman cast will do individual work on their parts, and after the first production is over Mr. Beriault will devote all of his time to this play, which it is hoped may be given early in the new year.

PLEASANT SURPRISE.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Casey, who have been living southwest of Cortland, were very pleasantly surprised at their home Saturday evening when about seventy-five of their neighbors and friends called with well-filled baskets and spent the evening in their home. There was music, feasting and an enjoyable social occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Casey leave in a few days for California, where they will make their future home. The surprise party was an evidence of the esteem in which they are held by their neighbors.

BROTHERHOOD TO MEET.

The Brotherhood of the Presbyterian church will hold its regular monthly business and social meeting on Friday evening. Rev. F. J. Compson will deliver a lecture on his tour around the world, which will be illustrated with reflectoscope views. The meeting is open to the men of the city and a cordial invitation is extended to all men to come out and hear Mr. Compson's lecture and enjoy a social evening.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIAL.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian Church will give a social in the Sunday School rooms of the church on Thursday evening. An interesting program of Halloween games has been arranged and all the young people of the church are invited to enjoy the evening.

SUSANNA WESLEY CIRCLE.

Mrs. Alpha Cox was hostess to the regular weekly meeting of the Susanna Wesley Circle of the First M. E. church this afternoon at her home on North Pine street. The members are preparing for the doll bazaar which will be given during the holidays and the afternoon was spent in preparing for this sale.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

Mrs. John Buhner was hostess this afternoon to the Fortnightly Club of the First Baptist church, at her home on St. Louis avenue. A large number of the members were present and a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by all. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

TUESDAY BRIDGE CLUB.

The members of the Tuesday Bridge Club were charmingly entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ida Sandan, North Walnut street. An elaborate course luncheon was served.

WEDNESDAY SEWING CLUB.

Miss Hattie Roeger will be hostess to the Wednesday Sewing Club tomorrow afternoon at her home on West Second street.

PRISCILLA CLUB.

The members of the Priscilla Club will be the guests of Mrs. Ida Miller, on North Chestnut street, Wednesday afternoon.

A Lesson from the Past

Years ago, before baking powders were so well known, the housewife sometimes made her own from cream of tartar and soda.

These materials were then comparatively expensive and processes of refining had not been devised to bring them to the high state of purity of the present-day well known cream of tartar baking powders, such as Royal; and yet she never thought of buying alum, then as now a cheap and inferior substitute for cream of tartar. She wouldn't think of permitting an ounce of alum to enter her kitchen.

Yet housekeepers are to-day asked to buy alum baking powders with which to make food for their children.

The statement on the label affixed to every can naming the ingredients of which the baking powder is composed affords a method of protection against the use of undesirable kinds.

SPRINGSTEEN SUGGESTS
PARCEL POST CHANGES

Indianapolis Postmaster Would Increase Weight Limit in First and Second Zones.

Washington, October 26—Postmaster Springsteen, of Indianapolis, has suggested to the postoffice department that the following changes in the rule governing the parcel post be made.

1. An increase in the weight limit to at least seventy pounds to points in the first and second zones.

Under existing rules, a bushel of seed wheat, corn, clover, potatoes and other articles of similar nature can not be shipped in one parcel by mail. A standard thirty-dozen case of eggs measuring less than eighty-four inches can not be mailed because its weights about fifty-three pounds. Hundreds of commodities are packed in standard net fifty-pound packages. When the weight of the container is added, all of these packages become unavailable.

2. A flat rate of 30 or 35 cents for all parcels weighing in excess of twenty-five pounds when destined for points within the first and second zones.

The present express rates are less than those of the parcel post on parcels weighing more than twenty-one pounds. A flat rate as suggested above would equalize matters and cause many more packages to be shipped by mail. More shipments of produce from the farms would be made by parcel post if the rate equalled the charges made by express companies.

3. The status of poisons and medicines containing poisons should be more clearly stated and the proportion of poison allowed in combination with other ingredients should be definitely defined.

The manufacturing chemists and the pharmaceutical houses feel that they are being discriminated against in the use of the mails. Two ounces of strychnine, securely sealed in a glass tube, must be shipped by express, even though the recipient may be a physician or veterinarian living five or six miles from the railway station.

The spraying preparations, such as arsenate of lead (white lead and arsenic) Bordeaux mixture or the other combinations are unavailable, although they are packed in securely sealed drums and plainly labeled. Yet white lead, and various forms of it as a foundation of paints and colors, are admitted to the mails. Through fear of violating the regulations in respect to poisons, the chemical houses are "taking no chances" and are shipping thousands of packages by express that should go by parcel post.

4. The adoption of a short, quick form of automatic insurance similar to that issued by the commercial companies.

Experience indicates, says Mr. Springsteen, that merchants and large shippers would make more use of the insurance feature of the parcel post if a short, semi-automatic form were available. We do not find any complaint of the cost of insurance, but we do hear much of the trouble and labor involved in filling out the required forms. Mr. Springsteen says complaints of the formalities and delay involved in the settlement of claims have also been received.

WINSTON CHURCHILL

Ex-First Lord of Admiralty Says British Fleet Will Decide War.

London, Oct. 26.—Mr. Churchill says: "For six months no hostile flag has flown outside the Baltic. We are stronger than ever and incomparably better adapted for war conditions. The great strategic conclusions upon which our naval disposition is based have been vindicated."

A Literary Waiter.

James Stephens, a literary Irishman, author of a number of novels, sketches and poems, is somewhat noted for his absentmindedness. In Paris he wrote his imaginative verses in the corners of cafes and never noticed which of these had been the environment of his muse. Once he left the manuscript of "The Demigods" in one of them, but could not remember where. Days after, wandering into the Cafe Closerie des Lilas, a waiter handed him the lost sheets. A five franc piece was offered. The waiter with much dignity refused the reward. "I am," he said, "a man of letters myself when I have an hour to spare, and I know what it is to lose the fruits of one's brains."

MUST VANQUISH FOES, SAYS TEUTON PRESS

Contain No Outspoken Desire For Peace.

Berlin (via Amsterdam and London), Oct. 26.—Through press reports from London and other capitals in Europe and foreign newspapers contain many references to an alleged revival of peace talk in Berlin and in Germany in general, a careful perusal of the German press fails to reveal any outspoken desire for peace.

Editorials in the official press are more insistent than ever that no peace be thought of until the foes of Germany are definitely vanquished. The press is jubilant over the political crisis in England and France as well as over Great Britain's trouble in recruiting and over the success of German diplomacy in the Balkans.

The Hamburger Nachrichten, the Koelnisch Zeitung and other newspapers all repeat that victory is near, and there should be no peace talk before the enemies are willing to concede to German supremacy and the right of Germany to hold the conquered territory in Belgium and France, in Poland and in the Baltic provinces. These papers all insist that the French must be deprived of their African colonies, Turkey rehabilitated at England's expense and Austria placed in supreme control of the eastern littoral and the Adriatic.

FOURTEEN DIE AS FIRE RAGES

Girl Employees Are Trapped In Factory Blaze.

NINETEEN ARE INJURED

Three Are Unaccounted For—Locked Door Prevents Many From Escaping—Others Leap From Second and Third Floor to Safety.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 26.—With practically every avenue of escape cut off, fourteen persons, thirteen of them girls, were suffocated or burned to death in a fire in a northside factory here.

Three girls are unaccounted for, six are in local hospitals and thirteen others suffered minor injuries by jumping from the third and fourth floors of the building at 207-209 Sandusky street.

At least some of the girls might have escaped, had a door leading from the second to the third floor been left unlocked, but when the terrified girls found it would not open they were compelled to return to the third floor and either jump from the window, taking desperate chances crawling down ropes or over ladders or perish in the flames.

Thirty-five girls were employed on the third and fourth floors of the building by the Union Paper Box company. The fire started on the first floor in a hay, grain and feed store of the James Brown estate and followed the elevator shaft to the roof. The second floor was occupied by several small manufacturing concerns.

The fire started a few minutes after the girls had returned from lunch. Joseph Bash and A. J. Seigel formed a ladder reaching to the third floor. Clinging to the side of the block, they permitted eight girls to climb down over them to the second floor from whence they dropped into nets held by the police and firemen. Other girls on the third and fourth floors, however, jumped several of them alighting in the street.

The girls who jumped from the third floor were caught in midair by an unidentified man, who reached out of a second story window.

Henry Schroeder of Cleveland, O., unaided, rescued six girls. He procured a rope, threw it to the girls on the third floor, and they made it fast inside and slid down in safety. A sixth girl jumped and Schroeder, attempting to catch her, was knocked down and severely injured.

Gertrude Berrie, twenty-four years old, had a most thrilling escape. Jumping from the fourth floor she alighted in a maze of telephone wires, bounded up in the air and came down again in the wires which she firmly grasped. She was rescued by a man from a second story window.

GEORGIA WOMEN PINCH FEET

Chiropodist Asserts State Has Become a "Bunion Center."

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 26.—That Georgia women have dainty looking feet only at the expense of wearing shoes that cramp and pinch, and that this state is one of the worst "bunion centers" in the United States is the declaration of chiropodists, following recent comparisons of Georgia girls' feet with those of New York beauties.

"Georgia women insist on wearing shoes too small for them," said an expert, "and I'm willing to wager there's no state in the country with more corns and bunions on the feet of its women than Georgia. And there's no use at all in such tight shoes being worn. As a matter of fact women's feet here are naturally smaller than those of women in New York, but the southern girls seem to want them smaller still."

DOG FIGHT CAUSES RUNAWAY

Farmer Dragged 100 Yards In Effort to Save Boy.

Columbus, Ind., Oct. 26.—A dog fight was the cause of injuries to Will Ott, a young farmer, who lives northeast of Columbus. Ott and Bert Kimmel, age four, son of Frank Kimmel, a farmer, had taken a horse and spring wagon and gone after a fan mill. As Ott was closing a gate his dog and the dog of a neighbor engaged in a fight. The fighting dogs ran under the horse and it ran away. Ott, trying to save the boy, grasped the lines and was dragged 100 yards. The boy was thrown from the wagon, escaping with few bruises. Ott was injured, but not seriously.

Court Upholds Vandalia Fine.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The supreme court affirmed a $2,000 fine imposed on the Vandallia railroad in Illinois for violating the Elkins anti-rebate law. The railroad lent a shipper $200,000 at 2 per cent interest on the promise of the shipper to give it all its freight business. This was construed to be in the nature of a rebate.

U. S. PROBING ALLEGED PLOTS

Exposure of Bomb Plan Leads to New Trials.

MORE ARRESTS MAY FOLLOW

Confession of German Officer to Mine Ships in New York Harbor Involves Teuton Secret Service in the United States.

New York, Oct. 26.—Sitting smiling and collected behind the bars of a cell in the Weehawken police station, a tall, boyish looking German officer, who had won an iron cross and had faced the fire of French 75-centimeter guns in the present war, told how, with the permission of the German secret office, he had been working for six months on plans in this country to tie mines to munition-carrying ships sailing from this country. He wished, he said, merely to incapacitate the ships and not to kill anybody.

The officer—it was Lieutenant Robert Fay of the Sixteenth Prussian infantry, who, with Walter Scholz, had been arrested as the central figure in a carefully devised scheme for stopping the export of arms and ammunition to the allies. As a result of the information and their investigations the police now has gathered four men accused of being in the plot. One other man is sought.

These five men—including Paul Daesche, a young German of twenty-one, who was arrested in Jersey City, and Dr. Otto Kienzie, a clockmaker of 309 West Eighty-sixth street—are accused of plotting to destroy ocean liners. There still remains to be arrested a man named Max Breitung.

While these five men are the object of the charges made in a federal warrant, only Dr. Kienzie has been nabbed by the federal authorities, while three others, Fay, Scholz and Daesche, are held by the Weehawken police, leaving the fifth man still at large. It is expected that the four men now in custody will be arrested upon federal warrants.

While, however, Lieutenant Fay and Scholz say they alone are to blame in the conspiracy to disable ships laden with munitions, and that they have been working absolutely on their own authority, the federal authorities in Washington are not inclined to take this very seriously.

A great mass of German correspondence seized among the effects of Fay and Scholz, is being translated. The investigation is expected to reveal more evidence and the case may be made the subject of vigorous representations to the German government.

From Washington comes the report that the federal authorities have under investigation similar plots by other groups similar to the one disclosed through the activity of the New York police. Fay asserts he acted with the permission of the German secret service. The federal authorities are awaiting to see if the men in the present group had any connection with other German agents spread throughout the country.

GERMAN PLANS DISRUPTED

Allied Offensive Caused Confusion In Ranks of Enemy.

London, Oct. 26.—British correspondents at the headquarters in the west, say the offensive of the allies a month ago has completely disorganized the German plans in France and Belgium and that the advantages gained by the allies are far greater than can be shown on the map.

The writers are prevented from sending many details, but they dilate on the confusion caused in towns behind the German front and on the fact of the Germans waiting for reinforcements. A result was a remarkable mixture of troops, and it is declared that the German disorganization prevents any idea of their taking a serious offensive for some time.

CHARGES PERJURY SCHOOL

Accuses State Fire Marshal In Arson Case.

Washington, Ind., Oct. 26.—William E. Longley, state fire marshal, was accused in the circuit court here by attorneys for the defense in the case of Albert M. Perkins of Washington and L. S. Walker of Evansville of using the funds of his office and liberating prisoners from the state prison in order to conduct a "school of perjury" here and send the defendants to prison for alleged arson conspiracy.

Open charges were made against Perry Drake, who is in prison, and Van Allen who is at home on parole, of disregarding the solemnity of the oath in order to curry favor with the state administration.

Insane From Fright.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Oct. 26.—The insanity of Mrs. Anna M. Newman, age sixty-seven, wife of John W. Newman, a farmer of Hogan township, whose commitment to the state hospital at Madison has been ordered, is believed to be due to her fright when she was chased by a bull when she went into the pasture wearing a red shawl. She escaped by climbing a tree.

THREE KILLED WHEN ENGINE HITS AUTO

Driver Escapes by Jumping
From Danger.

Gas City, Ind., Oct. 26.—Flick McIlwain, a wealthy farmer of Pleasant township, and Mrs. Odie Allen and Mrs. Alice Wilson, both of Marion, were killed when a Pennsylvania railroad switch engine crashed into an automobile in which they were riding at the Main street crossing in this city.

Mrs. Allen was riding in the front seat. Her head was torn off and her body was badly mutilated. McIlwain's neck was broken and his left thigh and leg were crushed. Mrs. Wilson's left leg was crushed and she was injured internally. The automobile belonged to McIlwain.

Noah Bodkin, who was driving the machine, leaped from his seat when he saw the collision was unavoidable, and escaped with minor injuries.

The watchman at the crossing made frantic efforts to halt the automobile, but Bodkin's attention seemed to be attracted elsewhere until his car was upon the track.

The presence of the party in Gas City was not explained. Charles Bankson, the crossing watchman, asserted he believed the party was on a "joy ride."

OBJECT TO CENSUS FIGURES

Indiana Cities Think 1915 Estimates Wrong Them.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Objections are being received by the census bureau to some of the estimates of population of Indiana cities for the mid-census period of 1915; published a few days ago.

Muncie is one of the cities that feels that it is getting the worst of it. It is asserted that the census estimates do not include from 8,000 to 10,000 persons who live outside the corporate limits of the city.

The census bureau does not assert that the figures given for any city are accurate.

says, "Eugenics is a necessary factor in the future of the race. The average American girl is unfit for motherhood." This may be true, but if weak and ailing girls passing from girlhood to womanhood would only rely, as thousands do, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—that simple remedy made from roots and herbs,—to restore the system to a normal healthy condition, it would cause many ills from which they suffer to disappear, so that motherhood might become the joy of their lives.

CHAPTER XII.

One day in early October young Milt McBriar happened upon Dawn and Juanita walking in the woods.

The gallant colors and the smoky mists of autumn wrapped the forests and brooded in the sky. An elixir went into the blood with each deep-drawn breath and set to stirring forgotten or hitherto unawakened emotions. And in this heady atmosphere of quickened pulses the McBriar boy halted and gazed at the Havey girl.

Juanita saw Young Milt's eyes flash with an awakened spirit. She saw a look in his face which she was woman enough to interpret even before he himself dreamed what its meaning might be.

Dawn was standing with her head up and her lids half closed looking across the valley to the Indian summer haze that slept in smoky purple on the ridges. She wore a dress of red calico, and she had thrust in her belt a few crimson leaves from a gum tree and a few yellow ones from a poplar.

Juanita Holland did not marvel at the fascinated, almost rapt look that came into Young Milt's eyes, and Young Milt, too, as he stood there in the autumn woods, was himself no mean figure. His lean body was quick of movement and strong, and his bronzed face wore the straight-looking eyes that carried an assurance of fearless honesty. He had been away to Lexington to college and was going back. The keen intelligence of his face was marred by no note of meanness, and now, as he looked at the girl of the enemy, his shoulders came unconsciously erect with something of the pride that shows in men of wild blood when they feel in their veins the strain of the chieftains.

But Dawn, after her first blush, dropped her lids a little and tilted her chin, and without a word snubbed him with the air of a Havey looking down on a McBriar.

Milt met that gaze with a steady one of his own and banteringly said: "Dawn, 'pears like ye mought 'a' got tangled up with a rainbow."

Her voice was cool as she retorted: "I reckon that's better than gitting mixed up with some other things."

"I was jest a-thinkin', es I looked at ye," went on the boy gravely, "thet hit's better then gittin' mixed up with anything else."

Dawn turned away and went stalking along the woodland path without a backward glance, and Milt followed at her heels, with Juanita, much amused, bringing up the rear. The easterner thought that these two young folks made a splendid pair, specimens of the best of the mountains, as yet unbroken by heavy harness. Then, as the younger girl passed under a swinging rope of wild grapevine, stooping low, a tendril caught in her hair.

Without a word Young Milt bent forward and was freeing it, tingling through his pulses as his fingers touched the heavy black mass, but as soon as she was loose the girl sprang away and wheeled, her eyes blazing. "How dast ye tech me?" she demanded, panting with wrath. "How dast ye?"

The boy laughed easily. "I dast do anything I wants," he told her.

For a moment they stood looking at each other, then the girl dropped her eyes, but the anger had died out of them, and Juanita saw that, despite her condescending air, she was not displeased.

Juanita, of course, knew nothing of Jeb's suspicions that had led him into the laurel, but even without that information, when Young Milt met them more often than could be attributed to chance on their walks and fell into the habit of strolling back with them, strong forebodings began to trouble her.

And one morning these forebodings were verified in crisis form, while the youthful McBriar lounged near the porch of Juanita's cabin talking with Dawn, another shadow fell across the sunlight: the shadow of Jeb McNash. He had come silently, and it was only as Young Milt, whose back had been turned, shifted his position, that the two boys recognized each other.

Juanita saw the start with which Jeb's figure stiffened and grew taut. She saw his hands clench themselves and his face turn white as chalk; saw his chest rise and fall under heavy breathing that hissed through clenched teeth, and her own heart pounded with wild anxiety.

But Milt McBriar's face showed nothing. His father's masklike calmness of feature had come down to him, and as he read the meaning of the other boy's attitude he merely nodded and said casually: "Howdy, Jeb."

Jeb did not answer. He could not answer. He was training and punishing every fiber cruelly simply in standing where he was and keeping his hands at his sides. For a time he remained stiff and white, breathing spasmodically; then, without a word, he turned and stalked away.

That moon a horseman brought a note across the ridge, and as Juanita Holland read it she felt that all her dreams were crumbling—that the soul of them was paralyzed.

It was a brief note, written in a copybook hand, and it ran:

I'll have to ask you to send the McNash children over to my house. Jeb doesn't want them to be consorting with the McBriars, and I can't blame him. He is the head of his family.

Respectfully, ANSE HAVEY.

A stronger thing to Juanita Holland than the personal disappointment which had driven her to this work was now her eager, fiery interest in the undertaking itself. In these months she had disabused herself of many prejudices. There remained that lingering one against the man with whom she had not made friends.

"Will You Go With Me?" She Asked a Little Weakly.

The thing she had set out to do was a hundredfold more vital now than it had been when it stood for carrying out a dead grandfather's wish. She had been with these people in childhood and death, in sickness and want; she had seen summer go from its tender beginning to a vagabond end with its tattered banners of ripened corn; autumn had blazed and flared into high carnival.

As young Jeb had turned on his heel and stalked away, even before the coming of the note she knew what would happen, and what would happen not only in this instance, but in others like it. This would not be just losing Dawn, but that was that. It would be paralysis and death to the school; it would mean the leaving of every Havey boy and girl.

So she stood there, and afterward said quietly: "Milt, I guess you'd better go," and Milt had gone gravely and unquestioningly, but with that in his eye which did not argue brightly for restoration of peace between his house and that of his enemy.

When the two girls had gone together into the cabin Dawn stood with a face that blanched as she began to realize what it all meant, then slowly she stiffened and her hands, too, clenched and her eyes kindled.

She came across to the chair into which the older girl had dropped listlessly and, falling to her knees, seized both Juanita's hands. She seized them tightly and fiercely, and her eyes were blazing and her voice broke from her lips in turgid vehemence.

"I hain't a-goin' ter leave ye!" cried Dawn. "I hain't a-goin' ter do it."

No word had been spoken of her leaving, but in this life they both knew that certain things bring certain results, and they were expecting a note from Bad Anse.

"I hope not, dear," said Juanita, but without conviction.

Then the mountain girl sprang up and became transformed. With her rigid figure and blazing eyes she seemed a torch burning with all the pent-up heritage of her past.

"I tells ye I ain't a-goin' ter leave ye!" she protested, and her utterance swelled to fiery determination. "Es fer Milt McBriar, I wouldn't spit on him. I hates him. I hates his murderin' breed. I hates 'em like—" she paused a moment, then finished tumultuously—"like all hell. I reckon I'm es good a Havey as Jeb. I hain't seen Jeb do nothin' yet."

Again she paused, panting with passionate rage, then swept on while Juanita looked at her sudden metamorphosis into a fury and shuddered.

"When I wasn't nothin' but a baby I fotted victuals ter my kinfolks a hidin' out from revenuers. I passed ridin' through men that war a-trailin' 'em. I've done served my kinfolks afore, an' I'd do hit ergin, but I reckon I hain't a-goin' ter let 'em take me away from ye."

Juanita could think of only one step to take, so she sent Jerry Everson for Brother Talbott, whom she had seen riding toward the shack hamlet in the valley.

"Thar hain't but one thing thet ye kin do," said Good Anse slowly when he and Juanita sat alone over the problem with the note of Havey commanding lying between them. "An' I hain't no ways sartin thet hit'll come ter nothin'. Ye've got ter go over thar an' have speech with Anse."

Juanita drew back with a start of distaste and repulsion. Yet she had known this all along.

"Ye see," she heard the missionary saying, "thar's jest one way Anse kin handle Jeb, an' nobody else kaint handle him at all. He thinks he's right. I reckon of ye kin persuade Anse ter reason with him ye'll hev ter promise thatt Young Milt hain't a-goin' ter hang round hyar."

"I'd promise almost anything. I can't give them up—I can't—I can't!"

"Ef Anse didn't perfect little Dawn from the McBriars, Jeb would, ter a God's certainty, kill Young Milt," went on the preacher, and the girl nodded miserably.

"I don't 'low ter blame ye none," he said slowly, almost apologetically, "but I've got ter say hit. Hit's a pity ye've seen fit ter say so many bitter things ter Anse. Mountain folks ar mighty easy hurt in their pride, an' no one hain't niver dared ter cross him afore."

"No," she cried bitterly, "he will welcome the chance to humiliate and to refuse my plea. He has been waiting for this; to see me come to him a suppliant on bended knee, and then to laugh at me and turn me away." She paused and added brokenly: "And yet I've got to go to him in surrender—to be refused—but I'll go."

"Listen," said the preacher, and his words carried that soft quality of pacification which she had once or twice heard before. "Thar's a heap worse fellers than Bad Anse Havey. Ef ye could jest hev seed yore way ter treat him a leetle different—"

"How could I?" demanded Juanita hotly. "How could I be friends with a murderer and keep my self-respect?"

The brown-faced man looked up at her and spoke simply.

"I've done kept mine," he said.

The girl rose.

"Will you go with me?" she asked a little weakly. "I don't feel quite strong enough to go over there alone. While they are humbling me I would like to have a friend at hand. I think it would help a little."

"I'm ready now," and so, with the man who had guided her on other missions, she set out to make what terms she could with the enemy she had so stubbornly defied.

It seemed an interminable journey, though they took the short cut of the foot-trail over the hills.

The house that had come down to Anse Havey had been built almost a century before. It was originally placed in a section so large that elsewhere it would have been a domain—a tract held under the original Virginia grant. Since those days much of it had been parceled out as marriage portions to younger generations.

Cabins that had once housed slaves, barns, a smoke-house, an icehouse, and a small hamlet of dependent shacks clustered about a clearing which had been put there rather to avoid surprise than to give space for gardening. The Havey of two generations ago had been something of a hermit scholar, and in his son had lurked a diminishing craze for books and an increasing passion for leadership.

The feud had blazed to its fiercest heat in his day, and the father of Bad Anse Havey had been the first Bad Anse. His son had succeeded to the title as a right of heritage, and had been trained to wear it like a fighting man. Though he might be a whelp of the wolf breed, the boy was a strong whelp and one in whom slept latent possibilities and anomalous qualities, for in him broke out afresh the love of books.

It might have surprised his newspaper biographers to know how deeply he had conned the few volumes on the rotting shelves of the brick house, or how deeply he had thought along some lines. It might have amazed them had they heard the fire and romance with which he quoted the wise counsel of the foolish Polonius. "Beware of entering a quarrel, but being in, so bear thee that the opposer may beware of thee."

As to entering a quarrel, it sufficed his logic that he had been born into it; that he had "heired" his hatreds.

And because in these parts his father had held almost dictatorial powers, it had pleased him to send his son, just come to his majority, down to the state capital as a member of the legislature, and the son had gone to sit for a while among lawmakers.

FRENCH GAIN OVER BULGARS

Force Enemy to Retreat at Two Points.

GERMANS REPORT SUCCESS

Teuton Advance Now Menaces New Serbian Capital—Russians Are Putting Up Stiff Resistance at Dwinsk and Riga.

London, Oct. 26.—Progress all along their respective lines were made by both the Austro-German chain of armies invading Serbia from the north and northeast and the Bulgarian forces, closing in on the defenders of the little kingdom from the west and south.

The Serbian situation is conceded here to be increasingly perilous. The one ray of hope from the allies' viewpoint for an improvement of the position of the enveloped main Serbian forces is offered by dispatches from Salonica, telling of favorable operations by the French expeditionary forces at two points, Robova, eight miles south of Strumitza, upon which city they drove back the Bulgarians two days ago, and Krivolak, on the Salonica-Nish railway, south of Kurlpi, the Serbian city in Bulgarian hands.

If the French succeed in driving the Bulgarians northward Krupli and Uskub will be menaced by them. This can not be achieved, however, it is admitted, by military observers here, by the present forces alone and already there are hints that the allies are about to send a far greater force to Salonica to reinforce those there now, with the additional object in view to satisfy Greece, whose government made it clear that without at least 400,000 allied troops she could not engage in a war on Bulgaria.

The most important of the successes reported by Berlin and Sofia, partly admitted by the Serbian war office, are a Teutonic advance on both sides of the Morava, south of Palanka and south of Petrovac, menacing the new Serbian capital and further headway by the Bulgarian center north of Pirot, due east of Nish, the intersection of the Oriental and the Salonica-Nish railway lines.

Dispatches from Petrograd indicate that the Russian troops are more than holding their own on the entire front south of Dwinsk, while maintaining their positions in the vicinity of Riga. In the face of determined attacks by the Germans.

Russian military authorities apparently are minimizing the effect of the capture of Iliust by the Germans. A furious battle is in progress north and south of Dwinsk, but the city's position, according to the Petrograd advices, remains strong.

TAKE IMPORTANT POSITION

French Storm Hill 199 and Capture 200 Prisoners.

Paris, Oct. 26.—The French troops in Champagne stormed and captured one important German position known as La Courtine, on the northern slopes of Hill 199, in Champagne, according to the report issued by the war office.

The victory, in which two hundred prisoners were taken, gives the French a firmer foothold on the hills controlling German railway communications in the Argonne. The fighting is still going on and the Germans have recaptured some of the trenches in the district, but the French have not been dislodged from the advanced position.

ALIENS ORDERED RELEASED

Supreme Court Decision Limits Power to Exclude Immigrants.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Immigration officials were shorn by the supreme court of the United States of the power of excluding aliens because, in their opinion, commercial depression at the place of destination might cause the aliens to become public charges. Several Russian immigrants destined to Portland, Ore., were ordered released from custody, in which they were held for deportation. The decision reverses a policy of the immigration service.

"The immigration law deals with admission to the United States and not to Portland," said James Holmes. "It would be an amazing argument for immigration officials to refuse admission to the United States because the labor market in the United States was overburdened, and yet that would be more reasonable than refusal to admit because of reported conditions in one city."

Celebrates Birthday, Then Dies.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Oct. 26. Mrs. Dorothy Ruoff, widow of John Ruoff, in celebrating her eighty-first birthday, remarked that the many flowers she received would probably be the last she would ever get on her birthday. She died the next morning.

Cotton Ship Burns.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 26.—The Mallory line steamer Colorado, bound to New York with a cargo of cotton, caught fire off the South Carolina coast and, according to wireless reports received here, will prove a total loss.

The most widespread disease in the world

The most widespread disease in the world today is that dread affliction of the teeth called pyorrhea. Nine out of every ten grown persons have it to some extent. You may have it and be unaware of it. Why? Because scientists have proved that the cause of this disease is a germ which inhabits every human mouth, and that thousands have this disease and do not realize it until it reaches the advanced stages of bleeding gums and loose teeth.

Accept the advice dentists everywhere are giving and take special precautions in your daily toilet against this disease. To meet the need for such a daily treatment and to enable everyone to take the necessary precautions against this disease, a prominent dentist has put his own prescription before the public in the convenient form of Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco contains the best corrective and preventive for pyorrhea known to dental science. Used daily it will successfully protect your teeth from this disease. Senreco also contains the best harmless agent for keeping the teeth clean and white. It has a refreshing flavor and leaves a wholesomely clean, cool and pleasant taste in the mouth.

Start the Senreco treatment tonight—full details in the folder wrapped around every tube. Symptoms described. A 25c two oz. tube is sufficient for six or eight weeks of the pyorrhea treatment. Get Senreco at your druggists today, or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Senreco Remedies Co., 507 Union Central Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio.

APPROVES NAVAL PROGRAM

Senator Kern of Indiana, Predicts Little Friction in Passing Bill.

Indianapolis, Oct. 26.—Senator John W. Kern, who has returned from Washington, where he spent a few days, said there is little hope that the next United States ambassador to Mexico will be an Indiana man, because there is no Indiana man for the place.

The place is regarded as Indiana patronage, as John E. Lamb, Terre Haute, who later died, was slated to succeed Henry Lane Wilson, also an Indiana man. The matter still is undecided, Kern said, but there is no qualified Indiana candidate for the position.

Senator Kern came back apparently much pleased with the naval program and predicted there would be little or no friction between the president and congress upon this score.

FOREIGN AUTOMOBILE SALES

American Export of Auto Products Increase $36,000,000.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Foreign countries took more than $74,000,000 worth of American automobiles and parts thereof in the last fiscal year, the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce announces. This was an increase over the previous year of more than $36,000,000. Prospects are that the exports in the calendar year will exceed $120,000,000.

European countries are the largest purchasers of American motor trucks. Increased sales are being made, however, to countries far removed from the war zone.

TANLAC PLANT MADE LARGER

Unprecedented Demand for Remedy Necessitates Increased Capacity.

Tanlac, the premier preparation, sold in Seymour by H. H. Carter Drug Co., and which is being so widely discussed in this State, is being used today by more than 150,000 Kentuckians, thousands of whom have testified to the benefits they have gained by its use.

Every walk of life is represented in the small army of Kentuckians who have been benefited by Tanlac and who have testified to its merits as a medicine of rare value.

The Taylor-Isaacs Drug Company, Louisville, has sold more than 30,000 bottles of Tanlac in 90 days. The success of Tanlac in Louisville is typical of the cordial reception the preparation is receiving in large cities and rural districts where it has been introduced. In the last six months the business has grown to enormous proportions—so large, in fact, that it recently became necessary to increase the capacity of the Tanlac plant in Dayton, Ohio, which had been producing from 8,000 to 10,000 bottles of the preparation daily.

The unusual, and heretofore, unused formula composing Tanlac, is, in a large measure, responsible for the medicine's popularity and success. The ingredients, which are gathered from many sections of the earth, are of known curative value.

One ingredient never before has been used in a proprietary medicine. This probably contributes more to the success of Tanlac than any other one thing. Its curative power is conceded to be most effective and rapid. This ingredient was discovered on an island in the Pacific, west of Mexico. Advertisement.
